REPUBLICAN RANKS SPLIT ON TARIFF

Police Hold "Booze Car" After Accident

Today

The Dawn Drinkers.
Bigger, Better Prisons.
Airplane Photographs.
For Profit, Stocks, Not Wheat.

By Arthur Brisbane

New York's speakeasies have developed the dawn drinkers, men and women that sit all night drinking, sometimes watching strange sights.

Pop Gallagher, who runs his little speakeasy in West Forty-eighth street, and sends the profits to somebody higher up, describes working of modern prohibition simply.

Eight dawn drinkers were in the back room at 7:15 a. m. when two men came in with Imogene, ordered "two beers and a Scotch," then drew pistols and held up the place.

Pop made no fuss, he knows better. Policeman Burns, in civilian clothes, was less wise.

He was shot in the stomach, and will probably die. There is nothing important in the story, no real news. New York's 32,000 speakeasies are always picturesque and busy.

The interest is Pop Gallagher's frankness. Did he run a speakeasy? Sure, what else would he run?

Judge Sibley of the federal court tells Atlanta reporters that to apply the Jones law to all offenders would be out of the question. Many bigger and better jails would be needed if that were done.

The judge sentences all prohibition offenders to jail, if he thinks they deserve it. "I sentence hundreds of defendants to the government prison each year. If all violators coming under the Jones law were sent there, there would be no place to put them."

It is easier to make laws than to make them work.

Photographs and scientific observations were made of the sun's eclipse from Iloili island at daybreak yesterday, under good conditions.

The United States naval observatory expedition took photographs from the ground, and from two airplanes, 5,000 to 10,000 feet up.

That is the beginning of photography that will add much to the knowledge of astronomers. Dirigibles, far up above agitating winds, and heavier than air machines far above clouds and moisture, will take star photographs clearer than any made thus far. The airplane will help men in all their work.

Wheat prices were "smashed down" yesterday to a low price for the season, the lowest prices since May, 1924.

On the other hand, the gigantic holdings of United corporation, a stock investment concern formed only a few months ago, have increased in value by $21,000,000.

Forming holding companies pays better than planting wheat.

There is, thus far, no call for "Wall street relief," in spite of high money rates.

Edsel Ford, sailing to look after his father's foreign companies, yesterday told reporters that he does not complain.

New Ford cars are coming off the line, 8,000 a day. One million seven hundred thousand of them have been sold, and they have unfilled orders for 300,000 more.

The Ford British company will sell 40,000 to 50,000 cars this year. And the Ford airplane factory expects to turn out one big plane per day. Somebody, some day, will manufacture 8,000 small flying machines a day.

It's hard to believe now, but when Henry Ford some years ago announced that he hoped to manufacture 10,000 automobiles a year, he was asked not to make ridiculous statements that would destroy bank-

LITTLE JOE

ROADSTER HITS FREIGHT TRAIN; TO INVESTIGATE

ELEVEN GALLONS OF "MOONSHINE" FOUND IN AUTO AFTER COLLISION AT CEMETERY CROSSING LAST NIGHT.

A light roadster, licensed to William Newman, Wonewoc, Wis., bearing more than eleven gallons of "moonshine" liquor, was held in the custody of Chief of Police R. S. Payne today, pending an investigation to be conducted by District Attorney M. S. King. The car was brought to the police garage near the city hall last night after it had sideswiped a freight train on the Green Bay and Western railway at the grade crossing on state trunk highway 54 near the Forest Hill cemetery.

Conductor Makes Report

The accident occurred shortly after 7:30 last evening. The train was bound for the west. The car, according to Conductor Roy Morris, Green Bay, in his report to the railroad company office at Green Bay, was traveling toward this city and apparently did not see the train across the highway until almost upon it. The report also stated that the car was swung to the right, almost parallel with the train, and struck about the seventh car from the engine, partially demolishing the left side of the auto. The conductor also reported that the two occupants of the car were placed in a passing auto and sent to the local hospital, but a check-up here revealed that neither of the occupants were treated at the Riverview hospital.

The train did not stop when the accident occurred, but continued toward the depot. Upon reaching the station, a switch engine crew was sent to the accident scene. William Rude, this city, was engineer of the train.

Returns, Finds Car Gone

A. J. Crowns, together with Charles E. Briere appointed as attorneys for the owner of the car, stated this morning that Newman said he came to this city to get medical attention for cuts on his left hand and head and that when he returned to get the car it was gone. The car was driven to this city by members of the police department who were called to the scene by the Green Bay railroad night operator at shortly after nine o'clock.

Attorney Crowns, in conference with District Attorney King this morning, informed him that the owner of the car would appear at any desired time. The district attorney had just returned to the city this morning and had cases in both county court here and the municipal court at Marshfield so that he was unable to investigate the case today. He stated, however, that a thorough investigation would be made on Monday. Newman is not being held by authorities, but will return to this city to appear before the district attorney on Monday.

Were on Fishing Trip

Newman's attorneys said today that Newman and his companion, whose name was not learned, had been up north on a fishing trip and that they were returning home at the time of the accident. Evidence that they had been fishing was shown when it was learned that the car contained three partially filled sacks of speared suckers and nineteen speckled trout. The trout showed evidences of being caught with hook and line. On the side of the car were three bamboo fishing poles.

The liquor carried in the car was contained in a five gallon jug, a five gallon wooden keg, a one gallon glass jug and a pint bottle. A 32 calibre automatic revolver and a rubber mallet were also found in the car.

Car Badly Damaged

The windshield of the car was broken and the left side of the body just at the rear of the door, apparently hooked by the end of a freight car, badly damaged. The bows of the top were broken in the impact of the collision, but the front portion of the car was not damaged nor was the engine. The car was driven to the police garage under its own power.

Pleads Guilty to Purchasing Liquor

Elgin, Ill., May 10—(AP)—A plea of guilty for "purchasing" liquor will be entered here next Monday by a woman who today arranged her plea after a consultation with States Attorney George D. Carbary.

British Open Golf Title Won by Walter Hagen of America for Fourth Time

Muirfield, Scotland, May 10.—(AP)—Walter Hagen today won the open golf championship of Great Britain for the fourth time with a score of 292 for the 72 holes championship play.

Acclaimed Winner

As the champion reached the home hole with a score of 75 for the final round, his second 75 on a day of high scoring by his fellows, the crowd greeted him as the repeating champion in spite of the fact that some of the cream of the golfing fraternity were still to be heard from.

As reports came in from the progress of the few who could overhaul him by a golfing miracle it was seen that there was no chance for him to lose.

Confusion as to Score

For a time after the champion finished there was some confusion at his score, a question of doubt rising as to whether his total should be 292 or 293. It had been reported that his ball moved as he addressed it on the third hole of his last round and a penalty stroke was tentatively added. Later it was officially announced that the championship committee found no evidence that the ball had moved, so his final round was scored 75 for a grand total of 292, the same score by which he won the title last year at Sandwich.

Only Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel had an outside chance to catch Hagen as he finished. When Farrell took 39 strokes for the first nine holes of his last round he was eliminated and Diegel with a score of 41 for the first nine took over after removed himself as a possibility.

Four Birdies, Eagle

Hagen scored four birdies and his eagle on the first nine holes of the last round. A brassie from the rough at the first hole enabled him to ram home a six foot putt for a four. Another fine approach at the third left him an easy putt and although he pulled his drive at the fifth he made another startling recovery. At the sixth he played a drive and iron to the green and was left 40 feet from the cup. He narrowly missed holing the putt.

Hagen got his three at the eighth by driving over the short cut to the dog leg and placing a mashie pitch dead.

At the ninth a pulled brassie left him about a foot from a stone wall. He pulled a lefthand club from his bag and hit the ball onto the fairway. He was still short of the green and had to take two putts for the six.

Johnny Farrell Second

Johnny Farrell, open champion of the United States, finished with a sparkling round of 75 and with a 72 hole score of 298 went into second place.

OBSERVE ARBOR DAY IN SCHOOLS

FORESTER F. G. KILP ADDRESSES STUDENTS OF LINCOLN HIGH ON REFORESTATION, CONSERVATION.

Students of the Lincoln high school observed Arbor Day with a program at one o'clock at the school auditorium this afternoon. F. G. Kilp, chief forester for the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper company, spoke on reforestation and the conservation of Wisconsin forests. The meeting was held under the direction of Alfred Hornigold of the biology department of the school.

Talks and Music

In addition to Mr. Kilp's talk the following program was rendered: Arbor day talk by Richard Bender; reading, "Trees," Elinor Gaa; talk, "Bird Protection," Nellie Brown; piano solo, "Woodland," Inga Soley; talk, "The Importance of Reforestation," Douglas Bain; song, "Trees," Alfred Hornigold; song "America," entire assemblage.

The program, with the exception of the talk by Mr. Kilp, was presented at each of the public schools in this city today and a small tree was planted in commemoration of the event at each school campus.

Visit Nepco Nursery

Students of the Wood County normal school observed Arbor day yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when they hiked to the Nepco lake nursery of the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper company and were there shown how the various kinds of trees common to this part of the state are produced in the nursery, and were given an explanation of the reforestation work being done by Mr. Kilp and his department. The students were then told of the prevention of forest fires by Gustave Giese, fire warden for the Nekoosa-Edwards company who explained the action taken as soon as a fire was reported. The student party was under the direction of Principal A. W. Zellmer and Miss Lillian MacDermid.

Award Inventors of Lung Escape Device

Washington, May 10.—The two naval officers and the civilian engineer who were responsible for the invention and testing of the submarine "lung" escape device today received the highest honors the president and the navy department could confer.

Secretary Adams, at the direction of President Hoover, awarded the Distinguished Service medal to Lieut. Charles B. Momsen and Chief Gunner Clarence L. Tibbals, who tested the device, escaping by means of it from depths as great as 206 feet and the navy department made a cash award of a year's pay to Frank M. Hobson, who was assisted by the others in working out the invention.

Newspapermen Can Visit Sinclair Now

Washington, May 10—(AP)—The order barring newspapermen from the district jail during the confinement there of Harry F. Sinclair was lifted today by George S. Wilson, director of the District of Columbia board of welfare.

One Dead, 30 Injured When Gas Explodes

Syracuse, N. Y., May 10—(AP)—One man was killed and 30 injured when a building was wrecked and the entire Solvay district threatened by the explosion of a 9,000 gallon tank of chlorine gas in the chemical and dye plant of the Solvay Process Company today.

The most seriously affected were rescued from a cloud of the poisonous vapor by fellow workers. They were James Carlisle, 35, and Charles Ney, 30.

The cause of the explosion was unknown. It occurred while the dirigible Los Angeles was drifting over the town, a fact which perhaps saved the lives of some workers as they rushed into the open air to watch it.

The fact that the giant dirigible was cruising overhead added to the excitement in the district. Many thought the town was being subjected to some sort of an aerial attack and it was considerable time before they could be reassured.

Reason for Itching in Waupaca School

Waupaca, Wis., May 10—(AP)—There has, it seems, been method in this madness of scratching among pupils of Waupaca public schools.

Last week the controversy between school instructors and city health officers became so heated that Dr. V. A. Gudex, deputy state health officer, came here from Madison to definitely put an end to the question. The instructors maintained their pupils had a skin disease and sent them home accordingly—while the health officials said they were merely scratching—and sent them back to school.

Dr. Gudex has found that the pupils have "contagious impetigo." The health officer did not deem the situation serious, however, and said the disease could be eradicated in a short time.

Slot Machines, Registers Rifled

Mercer, Wis., May 10—(AP)—Robbers rifled slot machines and cash registers in seven business establishments here last night. A group of men who were loitering about town early in the evening and who disappeared today, are suspected of the thefts.

He May Win Post in Philippines

Arthur Little, president of the Little Publishing company, of New York, called at the White House the other day. It is said he may be appointed to Colonel Stimson's old job as governor-general of the Philippine Islands.

HOOVER'S PLANS HIT OBSTACLES

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM OF CHIEF EXECUTIVE HAS ROUGH GOING AS EVIDENCED BY DEBENTURE, TARIFF.

BY JAMES L. WEST
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, May 10—(AP)—President Hoover's legislative program has had rather rough going in the preliminary stages of its development on Capitol Hill, but administration officers assert they are far from discouraged by the present outlook.

Debenture, Tariff Bother

As the situation now stands, it would appear that the chief executive must turn to the house for the undoing of senate action in approving the export debenture proposal as a measure of farm relief, and that he must look to the senate for support of his idea of a "limited" tariff revision.

This condition is not at all unusual, but it has attracted more than ordinary notice. Two factors enter into this, the first that the actions of the senate and of the house tariff committee followed so closely upon one another, and the second that they furnished first barometric indications as to the state of the atmosphere between the capitol and the White House.

Has Different Idea

While the president has refrained from any public statement regarding the tariff bill, he has let some of his friends know that he has quite different ideas as to what constitutes a "limited" revision of the Fordney-McCumber act.

There also is gossip in some official circles that a number of the revisions proposed by the ways and means committee Republicans fail to find favor with him, just as they do in some congressional circles, Republican as well as Democratic.

County Music Head at Appleton Today

Miss Kathryn Jole, music supervisor of the Wood County normal and rural schools of the county, attended the annual music "wind-up" of the Outagamie county rural schools which was held at Appleton today under the auspices of Lawrence college.

It was expected that more than 1000 school children would take part in the programs for the day. Miss Jole was delegated to the meeting in the hope that she might obtain ideas which could be put into effect in the music work now being done in Wood county's rural schools and also inject some of the college's ideas into the annual play day which is to be conducted at Arpin on May 18.

Recommend Roosevelt for Porto Rico Post

Washington, May 10—(AP)—Theodore Roosevelt has been recommended to President Hoover for the governorship of Porto Rico by prominent people both there and in this country but it was said at the White House today that the chief executive so far had reached no decision regarding the post.

STATE ASSEMBLY ASKS CONGRESS FOR DEBENTURE

LOWER HOUSE ADOPTS RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING NATIONAL BODY TO PASS MUCH DISCUSSED PLAN.

Madison, Wis., May 10—(AP)—The Schuman resolution memorializing congress to pass the debenture plan for farm relief, the filibuster topic of the senate Progressive-Socialist bloc last Friday in the fight on the Schmiege inheritance tax bill, passed the assembly today. The vote was 57 to 5.

Ingalls Opposed

Despite opposition of Assemblyman Wallace Ingalls, Racine, the resolution passed with the comment that "it at last was adopted" from Speaker Perry. Assemblyman M. B. Goff, Sturgeon Bay, explained the debenture plan, and with passage Speaker Perry asked if there was "objection to sending this away from the assembly immediately?" There was none.

Marquette law school graduates are not yet to be accorded the privilege of entry to the bar by presentation of their diplomas to the state supreme court.

The assembly killed, 33 to 27, the Slagg substitute to the Grobschmidt bill, allowing graduates of Wisconsin law schools having the same standards and requirements as the state university, as determined by the supreme court, to be so admitted to the bar.

Prevent Final Killing

Assemblyman Cords, Milwaukee, moved reconsideration of the killing vote, but the assembly refused to take this reconsideration immediately, because it might result in final killing of the bill. This was done out of courtesy to absent Milwaukee members, who favor the measure.

Assemblyman Lamorsux, Ashland, protested their absence, saying that half the Milwaukee delegation leaves the session in the middle of the week and leaves "we fellows who can't get home so easily, to conduct legislative business about two days a week.

Bounty Bill Causes Fun

The assembly had a bit of fun with the Don V. Smith bill for a three-cent bounty on black birds,

National Hospital Day Observed Here

National Hospital day will be observed in this city by the Riverview hospital tomorrow afternoon from one o'clock to four when open house will be held, according to Dr. J. K. Goodrich, manager of the hospital, today.

Although National Hospital day is observed on May 12, there is an exception to the date this year because of the fact that the regular date falls on Sunday.

On this day, anyone desirous of inspecting the local hospital is invited to do so between the hours of one and four. The day is set aside for educational purposes, to show the residents of the community in which hospitals are located, the efficiency of the institutions and the ability to care for the sick and safeguard the general health of a community through laboratory research and the training of technical workers. Hospital day also commemorates the birthday anniversary of Florence Nightingale, one of the great pioneer of the nursing profession.

Plan Circuit for Vocational Course

A plan to form a circuit of six central Wisconsin cities for the purpose of employing a specialist in paper making was approved at a meeting of vocational school directors in Stevens Point on Tuesday. W. A. Sprise, the local director, was in attendance at the meeting. The plan is contingent upon approval being voted by the respective vocational school boards.

The specialist, according to the plan, would spend one day of each week during the next school year in each of the cities, giving a course in paper making. The purpose of forming the circuit and working cooperatively is to save expense which would otherwise prohibit such a course.

Besides this city those in the circuit are Stevens Point, Wausau, Rhinelander, Eau Claire and Mosinee. The plan calls for one day being divided between Mosinee and Stevens Point.

Strangler Ed Lewis Takes Marital Vow

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, of Nekoosa, former world's champion heavyweight wrestler, and Miss Elaine Tomaso, Glendale, Cal., art student, were married at Riverside, Cal., last night, according to an Associated Press dispatch from the latter city. They plan to leave California next week on a honeymoon trip to Kansas City and Canada, and may also visit at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fredricks, in Nekoosa.

A group of friends attended the wedding which was held at Saint Cecelia chapel, with Rev. Samuel Hughes officiating. B. C. Sandow, Lewis' manager, was best man and Miss Carla Tomaso, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Lewis, out of the ring, is Robert H. Fredricks. He gave his age as 34 and his bride, who is the daughter of Salvatore Tomaso, a composer, gave her's as 25. She formerly lived in Chicago.

MENGEL LOW ON 73 PAVING JOB

LOCAL CONTRACTOR BIDS $77,829.58 ON 2.52 MILES PROJECT WEST OF PITTSVILLE; ONE OTHER JOB LET.

At the official letting held this morning by the third highway district, in the Mead-Witter hall, bids were opened by Divisional Engineer W. E. Haselton on two concrete highway projects, one of 10.72 miles in Green Lake county, on State Trunk Highways 73 and 23, and the other a stretch of 2.52 miles on State Trunk Highway 73 in Wood county just west of Pittsville. Although the figures have not yet been fully checked in the highway office, it is probable that the low bidder in each case will be awarded the contract. The F. F. Mengel company, city, was low bidder on the Wood county project.

There were ten bids on the larger project which lies between Neshkora and Green Lake, in Green Lake county, and Frank D. Hayes, Janesville, was low bidder with $263,264.75. John F. Bloomer, Appleton, was second with a bid of $264,581.55, and the L. L. Tindall Paving company, Waterford, was third with $266,986.58. Other bids were: Paul C. Kroeck, Milwaukee, $273,140.22; R. R. Birdsall & Sons company, Racine, $273,339.29; Ryan-Davlin company, Madison, $273,800.05; Vogt-Lotz company, Wausau, $277,554.35; Rapids Construction company, city, $300,353.29; Joe McCarthy Construction company, Kaukauna, $302,378.24; S. & H. Construction company, Milwaukee, $305,011.07.

Four companies offered bids on the Pittsville-Neillsville project, F. F. Mengel company, city, with $77,829.58, which was low bid; Rapids Construction company, city, second with a bid of $82,922.97; Universal Engineering company, Medford, $88,917.27, and Vogt-Lotz company, Wausau, $100,624.94.

Neillsville Woman Is 100 Years Old Today

(Tribune News Service)

Neillsville, May 10— Mrs. Annie Smith, Clark county's oldest citizen and undoubtedly one of the oldest persons in this part of the state, celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary here today.

Mrs. Smith is able to walk up and down stairs unassisted, make her own bed and wash and wipe the dishes. She was born in Stokestown, Ireland, May 10, 1829, and came to America with an uncle when she was 20 years old. She now lives with her daughter, Mrs. Kate Appleyard. Her eyesight and hearing are partially impaired. She is the mother of two children.

Navy Flyer Sets New Altitude Mark

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—The National Aeronautical association announced today that Lieutenant Apollo Soucek of the navy had established a new world altitude record in his flight two days ago. The announcement said he had piloted his plane to a height of 39,140 feet.

G. O. P. LEADERS IN QUANDARY AS PARTY DIVIDES

CONFERENCE OF HOUSE REPUBLICANS CALLED IN EFFORT TO STRAIGHTEN OUT DIFFICULTIES.

Washington, May 10—(AP)— A pronounced division in Republican ranks over the tariff revision bill, with a large block of members from the agricultural west and some from the industrial east rallying around an opposition banner, today had Republican leaders of the house in a quandary.

Call G. O. P. Conference

A conference of the entire Republican membership was called to meet this afternoon in an attempt to smooth out some of the difficulties. Indications were, however, that further meetings would have to be held before a decision could be reached regarding the procedure under which the measure will be taken up for amendment.

The western complaint against the bill crystalized yesterday even before it was brought up on the floor for the beginning of debate, Republicans from ten western states joining in criticism of the proposed farm duties, and deciding to ask the Republican caucus today to postpone action on a special rule.

Gain Eastern Support

Before the day was over the westerners had gained support from the New York Republican delegation, one of whom made an appeal for a duty on hides, now on the free list.

The New York Republicans said they thought the farmers were entitled to more liberal treatment and they were expected to support the westerners in their request for a rule allowing amendments to be offered to the agricultural schedule.

"Campaign Pledge Unmet"

Representative Dickinson of Iowa, who was appointed by the western conference to present the petition to the caucus for postponement of action on an amendment limiting rules until the group had had more time to study the bill, declared that unless schedules embracing live cattle, hides, casein, tapioca, sago, potato starch, black strap molasses, long staple cotton, flax seed and butter are thrown open to amendment, the tariff bill "would not meet the requirements of the middle west or fulfill the campaign pledges made in the last campaign."

G. T. Rowland & Sons Quitting Business

After 35 years in the grocery business, the past 18 having been spent in the building erected by them, at the intersection of First and Second streets south, George T. Rowland & Son are definitely quitting business this week. Robert Rowland was busy today disposing of odds and ends of stock, and when asked if what still remained was to be removed to another location, replied negatively.

"We have been in business 35 years," he said. "Don't you think we are entitled to a rest?" The store was first opened in the building now occupied by the Bob Brauer store in 1894 and in 1911 was removed to the new building, erected on the spot where once away back in the '70s stood the frame building which housed the weekly Tribune.

Hold Exams for Co. Rural Students Here

More than 60 rural school students were at the Wood county normal yesterday and today for the purpose of writing their final examinations before receiving their eighth grade diplomas. The examinations were given under the direction of County Superintendent of Schools Ella Hessler.

Other examinations were being conducted at Pittsville, Arpin Marshfield and other points throughout the country.

DEBENTURE PLAN REMAINS LIVELY SENATE TOPIC

ANIMOSITY STILL LINGERS AFTER VOTE TO INCLUDE PLAN IN RELIEF BILL; FESS ATTACKS PROPONENTS.

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—A final vote early next week on passage of the farm relief bill with its export debenture section was assured today as a result of the senate agreeing to limit debate on the measure and pending amendments at 3 p. m., Monday.

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—The export debenture proposal remained the most lively topic of the farm relief discussion on the senate side of the capitol today despite that it was definitely voted into the bill under consideration there two days ago.

Overshadows New Proposal

The animosities aroused during the long dispute over the debenture provision, in fact, have almost completely overshadowed the disagreement over the proposal to exclude fruits and vegetables from operation of the farm aid machinery proposed in the measure, which was the subject formally before the chamber for discussion yesterday and today.

The situation was brought into the open by a letter written by Senator Fess of Ohio, the assistant Republican whip, to Marshall Sheppey of Toledo, assailing "pseudo-Republicans" for the "break" in the party's ranks over the debenture issue, and naming Senators Borah of Idaho, Nye of North Dakota, and Brookhart of Iowa, specifically in his complaint. Sharp retorts were immediately made by all three of the senators, who supported the chief executive during the presidential campaign but voted against his announced position in giving their support to the debenture proposal.

Follows Convictions

Senator Borah, in a statement on the Fess letter, said he had "for three yeras been an advocate of a debenture as the most immediate and certain method of relieving the farmer engaged in producing commodities of which we have a surplus from his present distress," had voted Wednesday "according to my long-settled convictions" and "would not know how to vote otherwise."

Senator Nye said that "those who freely resort to the term "pseudo-Republicans" would do well to compare their own Republicanism with that which gave birth, vitality and life to the party," and predicted: "Some day Ohio Republicans will learn that North Dakota Republicans are striving to hew a little closer to the line laid down by Lincoln than is the case in Ohio,

Helen Wills Is Thrilled by Presentation to Queen Mary

London, May 10—(AP)—Helen Wills, who abandoned tennis for royalty for a few hours yesterday, left for The Hague today "a very thrilled" American girl.

Shows Excitement

The young Californian, who has been through many gruelling sports ordeals with unruffled calm, showed a typical debutante's excitement as she related her emotions on her presentation to Queen Mary.

"It was perfectly beautiful," she said as she hurriedly packed her court gown and tennis frocks to catch an early morning train. "I was not a bit nervous. Everything was managed so well that one felt always at ease. It was really beautiful, the whole scene was so colorful. Never as long as I live shall I forget it."

The tennis star had nothing to say about the "mob scenes" that were enacted last night on the Mall as she waited in a parked car for her entrance to Buckingham palace. The curiosity of throngs of spectators fighting their way through the crowds shouting "We want Helen" did not bother the champion.

Receptions Marvelous

She declared that her receptions in England have always been marvelous and that she could not understand why they were so good to her.

The American girl made a pleasing picture last night in a simple ivory satin frock free of all trimming and the policemen handling the crowd said that she was not only the most powerful American debutante, but also one of the best looking.

The brilliant ceremonial began shortly after 9:30 p. m. with the queen entering the throne room as two bands played the national anthem in nearby alcoves and taking her place on the throne.

Prince of Wales Present

The Prince of Wales took his place among other members of the royal family at her side.

As the court chamberlain called the names of the presentees each walked the distance of the throne room to the front of the queen and curtsied once to the queen. The individual ceremony took hardly more than half a minute, the brief period constituting in most cases culmination of considerable time and expense.

Presented with Miss Wills last night were seven other American girls.

Assemblyman Wallace Ingalls, Racine, being about the only serious opponent of the bill. He noted that redwing blackbirds and others not in the destructive class are included in the blackbird category under the bill. The house finally killed a large number of amendments, then killed the bill, 40 to 19, when farmer members reported that blackbirds had not damaged their crops.

The committee on municipalities bill for redistricting some of the towns in Dane, Dodge, Douglas, Grant, Fond du Lac, Kenosha, Milwaukee and Waukesha counties, as respects congress, assembly and senatorial districts, was passed and sent to the senate.

Pass Cheese Bills

Two bills on cheese were passed, one prohibiting the diversion of butter fat from milk used in the manufacture of cheese and one requiring complete records in cheese factories on the sellers of milk, amount of its fat content, amount purchased from each farmer, etc.

Assemblyman E. G. Smith of Rock county, was refused unanimous consent to introduce a bill exempting radios from taxation.

and with that realization will come new life for a party that has been growing so stale that it forgets that people can make and break parties."

"Fess No Example"

Senator Brookhart declared "no standpat like Senator Fess can be my example of 'Republicanism'."

Conduct Thompson Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for T. C. Thompson, 410 Eleventh street north, who died at the Madison General hospital on Tuesday, will be held from the home at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. R. Scharnick will conduct the services and interment will be made in the Forest Hill cemetery.

The deceased was born in Oslo, Norway, in 1860. He came to this country in 1880 and settled in Kilbourn, Wisconsin, where he was married to Miss Alice Holton in 1885. He came to Wisconsin Rapids in 1888 and became engaged in farming for a short time before entering the real estate business. In late years he was engaged in dynamiting until his retirement about six years ago.

Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn his death five daughters, Mrs. William Young, Mrs. Doris Ferrell and Mrs. H. R. Kauthe, this city; Mrs. O. H. Woodyatt, Rock Island, Illinois, and Mrs. George McGrath, Milwaukee, and one son Charles, Oglesley, Illinois.

Mrs. E. Brown of Nasonville Dies

(Tribune News Service)

Marshfield, May 10—Mrs. Ernestine Brown, who has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Bartz, in the Nasonville section since 1907, died early on the morning of May 8 following an illness with dropsy.

She was born Dec. 26, 1844 in Germany and came to this country in 1866. She was married in September of that year in Brillion, Wisconsin. Her husband died 30 years ago. In 1907 she came to Nasonville to reside with her daughter. Besides her daughter, she is survived by two sons, Henry at Fremont and Albert at Brillion. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2:00 p. m. from the Nasonville St. John's Lutheran church with Rev. A. E. Diemer in charge. Interment will be made in the cemetery there.

Nekoosa Schools to Have Annual Exhibit

He says he is 160, remembers well his last wife, whom he married when he was 90, and expects to live many more years.

His diet has been, for more than 100 years, cheese and garlic, and he has smoked ever since the age of 5. Find a moral in that, if you can.

Americans that speculate, without knowing, are warned by men who know, not to gamble too recklessly in airplane stocks. Some of the foolishly air stock-minded actually ran up the price of Seaboard Air Line stock, mistaking that railroad for an airplane concern.

London reports that British airplane stocks have been soaring because of American buying. What do American speculators know about British air stocks?

What would have happened to your pocketbood had you bought automobile stocks at random when the automobile was new, as the airplane is now. Where are those old automobiles now?

Be cautious. You will be grateful for this advice, if you take it.

Extend Carnation Sale to Nekoosa

Permission for the sale of carnations by the American War Mothers of this city in Nekoosa on Saturday has been granted by Mayor J. W. Youngchild of that city, who heartily endorses the drive in a communication to Mrs. Georgianna Buckley, president of the local chapter.

The following merchants and business places have been added to the list of those which will have carnations for sale tomorrow. The proceeds of the sale go to the War Mothers to be used in aiding disabled veterans of the World war, their wives and families:

Prentiss-Wabers Manufacturing company, Citizens National bank, J. C. Penney company, Reiland's market, McGrogan's, Loock grocery, Dixon hotel, Lewis store, Turbin's grocery, Miller grocery, H. Honete, Nekoosa; Johnson & Hill, Nekoosa; Denis drug store, Nekoosa; Nekoosa State bank. The principal stores in Port Edwards, as well as the hotel there, and the Biron store will have carnations for sale also. All captains and their assistants are to meet at the War Mothers' headquarters, next to Heilman's store, tomorrow.

Paul Gross Believes In Working His Way

"Where there's a will, there's a way," is a proverb that still lives. Paul Gross, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Gross, 940 First street north, has learned it early. Having been told the significance of "Mother's Day" he went over to the home of Mrs. Georgianna Buckley, 840 First street north, this morning before school and asked if she would hire him to rake her yard. Asked why he wanted money, the ambitious youngster replied that he wanted to buy some carnations "to give mamma."

needed flesh—to enrich the blood—take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By restoring the normal action of the stomach and other deranged organs and functions, it builds the flesh up to a safe and healthy standard—promptly, pleasantly and naturally. The weak, emaciated, thin, pale and puny, are made strong, plump, round, rosy and robust, also pimples and blotches are driven away.

Read this comment: "I was suffering from indigestion and gastric stomach trouble, my food did not digest, gas would form causing me to suffer all sorts of distress. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and have never had another spell of indigestion or bad stomach condition. Comings and Goings of LOCAL PEOPLE

W. C. C. F.—

The Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters met at the Societies' Hall on Wednesday evening in regular session, and for the initiation of a class of twenty-five new members. Miss Frances Farley, deputy organizer, sent out by the high court of Chicago, is given much credit for her ability and untiring effort in organizing so large a class. More than one hundred and fifty were present at the intiatory service and program which followed. The program which was arranged under the chairmanship of Mrs. Earl Brennan was in honor of Mother's Day. Father Reding, who has been ill and now convalescent, was able to be present and gave an inspiring talk on Mother. At the conclusion of the program, Miss Farley, in a charming manner, gave a few remarks congratulating the officers upon the splendid condition of the local court. She was later presented with a beautiful purse as a memento of appreciation of her services here and the friendships made during her stay. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry Wagner and members of her committee. Representatives from the courts at Milladore, Rudolph and Stevens Point, honor guests at the event, were seated at special tables prettily decorated with bouquets of spring flowers.

Mothers' Club of Lowell School—

The Mother's Club of Lowell school, numbering sixty, met at the school building yesterday for the annual business meeting and election of officers. Those elected were: President, Mrs. Ed. Kabitsky; vice president, Mrs. E. J. Schmidt; secretary, Miss Ann Caddigan; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Eswein. The program which preceded the business meeting was given by pupils of the school in observance of Mother's Day, and was arranged by Miss Roach. The following numbers were given, "Welcome to Mothers," Grace Jochem; reading, History of Mother's Day, Doris George; Reading, A Boy's Mother, Harlan Clark; duet, Alberta Siewert, at the piano, and Germaine Weller, violinist; recitation, Only One Mother, Dorothy LeMay; My Mother, four girls of fourth grade; reading, Mrs. A. F. Perrodin; Mother's Day, six fourth grade girls; vocal duet, Alberta Siewert and Doris George. The program concluded with a splendid talk on mothers, given by Rev. J. M. Stevens. Dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge Mesdames Edmund Baldwin, Earl Sherman, Orrin Clark, F. N. Aughey, Art. Ewein and W. E. Fairbanks.

Are You Well and Strong?

"Before my third baby was born my husband advised me to take your medicine and he bought me three bottles of it. When I had taken the first one I began to feel better so I kept on during the whole period. We have a healthy baby boy and we are so proud of him and praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the help it gave me. I feel lots stronger since I started to use it and would not be without it."—Mrs. Frank Lukes, R. No. 1, Box 58, Lankin, N. Dakota.

MR. ROBERT KERRINS SAYS DRECO RELIEVED GAS IN TWO WEEKS

Well-Known Owner of Palace Confectionery Has High Praise for New Remedy

It is not hard to explain the popularity and the enormous sales of Dreco for some of the best and most substantial citizens of this section have given it fair trial and proclaim it the best medicine they ever took. A recent public statement given to the Dreco expert at Church's Drug store is from Mr. Robert L. Kerrins, the well-known and highly respected owner of the Palace Confectionery. He says:

"Since taking Dreco I can sit down and enjoy a hearty meal for the first time in years without suffering with a bloated stomach and indigestion afterwards.

"I've only taken Dreco for about two weeks but the gas that used to press around my heart has disappeared and I feel like a different man already. I am glad to recommend Dreco to others."

Dreco, being a combination of the juices of extracts of herbal plants, combines very readily with the juices of the stomach, that is why its action is so prompt and so positive. It is noticed soon after taking Dreco that the gas stops forming and the food digests perfectly, giving strength to the entire body and renewing vigor and vitality.

The Dreco man is now at Church's Drug store, where he is daily explaining the merits of Dreco to numerous local people and presenting everyone who is interested with a valuable health booklet free.—Adv.

MOTHERS' DAY HAS SIGNIFICANCE

We are living at a time when in the strain and stress of every day life: when need for haste is everywhere if one is to hold the pace, we appear to have less and less time for the consideration of the sacred things of life. We are born, we live, extracting such breathless ephemeral pleasure as is possible as we go along, we die, and what of it? We find little time for religion, for friendship, for philosophy. It is "hello" and "goodbye" for the busy American today.

There are, however, certain stop-and-go signs on the thoroughfare of life which should be observed. Among these, perhaps the most significant signal to "stop, look and listen" is May 12—"Mothers' day." Everyone has or has had a mother. The love of a mother for her offspring is a biological necessity for the preservation of race. The love of offspring for its mother is as much a spiritual necessity to preserve the morale of humanity.

A dangerous modern tendency is the disrespect shown to old age by youth. Possibly thoughtlessness is the motivating cause, but the fact, none the less, denotes danger. Any nation which fails to cherish its aged is lost to self-respect; any peoples who lose love and respect for their mothers, are on the brink of a barbarism of the lowest possible type. The proper observance of "Mothers' day" gives pause and an opportunity for the "hard boiled" adult to remember the days when "mother" was the solace for every sorrow; the cure for every ill.

Nor should we belittle the softening effect of the annual floral gift which reunites in spirit, perhaps, the far away child with its mother. True, the child has grown, but "men are but children of a larger growth," and the young men and women, hardened by the ever more severe struggle for success in a "hard boiled" world, cannot help but regain for a little space the ideals and the native kindliness of their childhood. Think too of the waiting mothers, wondering day by day about the boy and girl who has perhaps neglected to write the letters which mean so much to the yearning mother heart.

Yes, "Mothers' day" is significant. Significant of a happy past; significant of a hopeful present; significant of a fruitful future. In the fragrant purity of its beauty, the pink carnation for the living and the white in memory of the dead, means that no matter how fast or how far the young man or woman has traveled since he or she was safely cradled in mother's sheltering arms, they still retain within their hearts that intangible influence which enables both to live stronger, better, purer and more useful lives.

"I LOVED HER"

The young man recently arrested in New York, accused of strangling his young wife, taking her body to a deserted spot in the country, drenching it with kerosene and setting it afire, has voiced the usual protest of the man caught in an act of that kind.

"I loved her," he cries. "I loved her madly. Don't let there be any doubt about that. I wanted her to come back and live with me."

Time after time this sort of remark has been made by men who have committed similar crimes. Sometimes, no doubt, the murderer means it; and sometimes, perhaps, he is thinking of its possible effect on a sentimental jury.

Offhand, however, one would say that choking a woman to death and burning her body is a peculiar way of demonstrating affection for her.

A SKYSCRAPER'S AGE

Things grow old quickly in this modern world.

In Chicago, a matter of 35 years ago, was built the world's first skyscraper—the Tacoma building, 14 stories tall, erected on a new principle which made a steel framework carry all the weight.

For years it was a marvel. Architects studied it, and the lessons it taught led to the construction of the towering buildings that mark every American city.

But now it is being torn down—after a scant 35 years of life. It is out of date—too small, too cramped. In its place will rise a building three times as high.

Not So Bad After All

(Milwaukee Sentinel)

Every now and then, while we are engaged in the popular indoor sport of standing aghast at the sinful behavior of the rising generation, some prophet arises to calm our fears and give us a brighter picture of the 1929 sports model, Young America.

Dean Scott H. Goodnight of the University of Wisconsin is such a prophet. He ought to be pretty good authority for he has been studying youthful Americans for some three decades.

There is proportionately more enlightenment and less vice at the university today than there was thirty years ago, he declares. And, he adds, "My confidence in these youngsters is quite unbounded, for I see them handling, quite aside from their studies, enterprises on the campus that would stagger many business men in the outside world."

While of course the ability to cope with business problems does not necessarily indicate the highest standards of morals or personal virtue, it is just as true that young people who are busy with such things haven't much time for the "whoopee" that is popularly believed to be the chief aim of youthful humanity today.

Dean Goodnight intimates that the undergraduates of twenty and thirty years ago were not all paragons of virtue themselves. This, while every undergraduate of a quarter of a century ago will privately admit its truth, will have a depressing effect upon stern fathers who have been in the habit of lecturing their sons about the Puritanical morality that prevailed when they went to school.

Dean Goodnight's report is encouraging and deserves at least as much consideration as do the lamentations of those whose favorite theory is that our boys and girls are hair hung and breeze shaken over the bottomless pit.

Don't Overlook the Crippled Children

(Antigo Journal)

The bill before the legislature providing for an appropriation of $500,000 for the aid of crippled children is slated by the committee, reports say, for indefinite postponement. A half million dollars may seem a lot of money when the state income doesn't seem to stretch over the expenditures; but in this matter we believe the legislature should look rather to the human than the economic side and curtail in other projects rather than to let the crippled children continue to suffer without hope of improvement or proper hospital treatment.

Orthopedic treatment has accomplished what has seemed almost impossible in some cases and it seems too bad that we have no facilities for enlarging on the present efforts. Those who are familiar with some cases right here in Langlade county will say that whatever tax this county might be called upon to pay has already been paid to us.

If hospitalization were provided for those crippled children who are now sadly in need of it, and who are because of their condition a burden upon themselves as well as their families, it would be worth more than money could pay. But it would likewise be an investment that will bring in actual cash returns. Many of them who might without the proper treatment be a continuous burden upon society, might be placed in a position where they will be self-supporting. We all want expenses cut, but here is a matter that will not only relieve suffering but pay dividends and we should not turn it down without considering every phase of it.

The Senate Deadlock

(Janesville Gazette)

The assembly passed the Schmiege inheritance tax bill which allows Wisconsin to enter upon a reciprocal agreement as to inheritance taxes with other states. That is, an inheritance will pay but one tax in the state where the decedent had his property. But after the bill had been passed and sent to the senate some of the progressive leaders found they had committed an error—a terrible error of policy and asked the senate to send the bill back. Horrified, the assembly waited. But the senate majority refused to return the bill and the progressive minority has been filibustering ever since—five days now of heated parliamentary battle. It is hard to see just what the outcome will be but in the meantime, legislation demanding attention, appropriation bills and other measures wait for the minority. It has come to be a political fight and nothing else matters when politics ride in Madison.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MILDRED LAWRENCE falls in love with STEPHEN ARMITAGE, who is lured away from her by PAMELA JUDSON when she tells him that Mildred is trying to marry her brother, HAROLD, for his money. Harold fears HUCK CONNOR because he holds a check which he forged. Huck is infatuated with Pamela, who plays him to make Stephen jealous. When Pamela maneuvers Stephen into an engagement, Huck frames him for the theft of an auto and causes his arrest. Pamela drops him, but Mildred goes to see him in jail and promises help.

Harold had once told her he feared Huck and that he had threatened to get rid of Stephen to keep him from marrying Pamela. Mildred determines to force Harold to help her and is shocked to hear of his death—apparently accidental. She tells Stephen her suspicions, but they have no proof and it seems hopeless.

In desperation, Mildred goes to MR. JUDSON, who takes her to headquarters to tell her story. Judson puts up bail for Stephen's release and Pamela begs his forgiveness. A lawyer and detective escort Stephen away from the jail and they soon realize their taxi is being followed. At a congested corner the detective is shot at as the cars pass. He escapes with a scratch as his answering shot had penetrated the thug's wrist and caused him to drop his gun—saving the bullet meant for Stephen. The thug makes a getaway and they learn he was driving a stolen car.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

"It's a common trick," Frean explained. "The owner allows his car to be stolen; then it's abandoned and he gets it back with no responsibility for anything that happens after he reports that it's out of his possession. But of course he delays making the report until the car has served its purpose."

"And the police have too little time to find it. I see," Oerndorf remarked.

"We'll have the owner brought in," Frean said and turned to Stephen. "Better come along to headquarters and have a talk," he added quietly.

Stephen shook his head. "Not until I've seen Mr. Judson," he replied.

"All right, buddy, but you know this 'stolen' car business means there's an organization after you."

Stephen showed a quickened interest. "If the owner of that taxi really is in on this thing then hold him," he explained earnestly.

"What for?" Frean asked.

"I'll tell you after I've seen Mr. Judson," Stephen promised.

"If you see him," Frean returned. "Don't be a fool, young man. Somebody's out to get you good and plenty."

Stephen's lips set in a stubborn line. "They'll have to take time to cook up something new," he said, convinced that he was safe for the time being. "You get that taxi owner and maybe you'll have someone who can tell you where Huck Conner is."

"This Connor . . ." Oerndorf began.

"He's the man Mr. Judson will give his right arm to find after I've told him what I know," Stephen declared. "Come on, let's go."

* * *

Oerndorf gave the driver orders to proceed to the hotel.

"Go after your man," Stephen said to Frean, and the latter stepped off the running board of the car where he had stood talking through the window.

On the way to the Judson hotel Oerndorf tried to question Stephen until Stephen told him firmly that he had nothing more to say until he had seen Mr. Judson.

At the hotel Stephen was asked to go at once to the owner's office. He opened the door and strode in briskly, his mind filled with what he was going to say about his theory that Huck Connor had murdered Judson's son.

Oerndorf followed less precipitately, but it was he who first saw that Mr. Judson was not alone to receive them.

Stephen was totally unprepared for the rush with which Pamela came to throw herself into his arms and "welcome" him back. She had completely slipped his mind since he'd left the jail.

Oerndorf walked over and looked out a window but Mr. Judson did not take his eyes from Stephen.

He saw the young man hesitate as though confused, saw his arms remain at his side while Pamela pulled his head down and kissed him over and over again upon his lips.

Finally Stephen put one arm around her in an uncertain way that revealed more to Mr. Judson than Stephen himself was aware of.

Until that moment Pamela's father had not permitted himself to form an opinion of this young man his daughter was to marry. To him Stephen was the innocent victim of a man who had plotted his own son's ruin.

So thoroughly did he believe Mildred's story of Huck's intention to marry Pamela that he did not doubt Stephen had been purposely put in a position that would dispose of him as a rival to Huck.

Mr. Judson thought of Mildred now and a determined expression settled upon his face.

It had been easy to guess her secret. She loved this young beggar. Her last word, when he'd left her at the hospital a short while ago, was a plea to warn Stephen of the danger she believed he was in.

* * *

"You must meet dad," Pamela cried, suddenly drawing away from Stephen and turning toward her father. She saw, and misunderstood, her father's forbidding frown.

Quickly she ran to him and put an arm on his shoulders.

"Stephen will be a new son to you, daddy," she whispered.

Mr. Judson looked up at her unsmilingly, and then turned his glance upon Stephen. There was no friendliness, no warmth in it and Stephen knew it.

But he had no time to concern himself with Mr. Judson's personal thoughts of him.

He stepped forward and held out his hand as the older man rose to meet him.

"You're a bit later than we expected you to be," Mr. Judson said after the introduction. "No trouble, I hope."

Stephen glanced at Pamela.

"I'd like to talk to your father alone, Pamela," he said.

She went at once into an appealing pout.

"Please go, Pam, dear," her father requested.

Pamela came up to Stephen again and put her hands on his arms.

"You won't be a minute longer than necessary?" she begged. "I've so many things to talk to you about, Stephen darling. Things you never dreamed of."

"I'll be brief," Stephen promised.

Pamela nodded to Mr. Oerndorf and left them.

"Sit down," Mr. Judson invited and reseated himself at his desk.

"You do not object," Stephen said, "to having your lawyer hear anything I may have to say?"

Mr. Judson stared at him.

"Of course not," he snapped. "Why should I?"

"Well, it concerns your son."

Mr. Judson started. He had expected Stephen to talk about Pamela.

* * *

"Do you know anything more about my son . . . his death . . . than Miss Lawrence knows?" he asked.

It was now Stephen's turn to be surprised. "Miss Lawrence?" he repeated dumbly.

"She came to me this morning with information that I hope will lead to the arrest and conviction of the man who murdered Harold," Mr. Judson told him.

Oerndorf sat forward on the edge of his chair. Mr. Judson caught his exclamation of surprise.

"I hadn't time to tell you all this when I asked you to bring Mr. Armitage here," he said to his lawyer. "Before that the police had asked me to say nothing to anyone about their belief that my son had been murdered."

"Mildred," Stephen mumbled. It seemed unbelievable to him now that he hadn't seen her hand in this.

Mr. Judson turned to him sharply. "I must confess I thought she had heard in some manner of the reward I intended offering as soon as the police would permit me to make it public," he said and watched Stephen closely.

That young man evinced an instant indignation. "I suppose you still believe that she deserved to be fired," he said scornfully.

Mr. Judson shook his head. "No," he said: "I know I was misinformed about her interest in Harold."

Stephen leaned forward. "If there's any doubt left in your mind I can tell you that she was only trying to help him out of some hole that he'd got himself into," he declared stoutly.

"I know, I know. There is no occasion for you to defend her," Mr. Judson retorted, and Stephen was brought to a sudden realization that he himself had once entertained doubts of Mildred's disinterestedness as regarded Harold Judson.

"But you owe her undying gratitude for getting you out of jail," Mr. Judson went on, his voice cinged with contempt.

He was certain now that Stephen was not in love with his daughter. He might, or might not, be in love with Mildred Lawrence. At least he was ready to defend her at a moment's notice.

Stephen nodded. "I never even guessed she'd been to see you," he said. "I thought. . . ." Here he stopped. He couldn't tell Pamela's father that she had led him to believe it was her love and belief in him that had brought about his release.

"Perhaps you'd better go over the facts as you know them," Mr. Judson suggested to him. "Miss Lawrence may inadvertently have omitted something of importance."

* * *

"There's nothing I can add, I'm afraid," Stephen replied. "I only know what Miss Lawrence told me about this man Connor and your son. She is certain, in fact Harold told her, that Connor was blackmailing him. We don't know anything about Connor beyond the fact that I suspect he was mixed up with a gang of automobile thieves who operated for a while in Indiana."

"Then Pamela hasn't told you that we have a very definite clew to the murderer?" Mr. Judson asked.

Stephen shook his head. "She stayed with me only a few minutes," he explained. "We talked about . . . our future."

"H'm." Mr. Judson compressed his lips. "Well, it will interest you to know that we have the thumbprint of the man we believe killed my son."

"Good!" Stephen exclaimed. "Now we've something to go on!"

"Mr. Armitage." It was Oerndorf speaking. "Why didn't you tell what you knew about Connor and Mr. Judson's son without waiting until you were released from jail?"

Stephen answered him promptly. "Because we, Miss Lawrence and I, had no proof to back up our suspicions. We thought everyone else believed it a case of accident or suicide."

"Do you consider that a sufficient reason for your silence?"

"There's another and a better one," Stephen replied. "I was safe enough in jail but Miss Lawrence was threatened some time ago merely for trying to make Harold confide in her. Had she gone to the police with her story her life would have been in danger."

Mr. Judson glared at him. "Is it your opinion," he said, "that fear of such danger would prevent Miss Lawrence from doing her duty?"

Stephen glared back at him. "Certainly not," he answered readily. "I induced her not to go to the police; told her they couldn't act on her unsupported word."

Mr. Judson subsided. "She came to me," he said more quietly. "We went at once to Inspector Markson. We must have been shadowed, for later, on her way back to work, Miss Lawrence was shot."

Roseberry and interment was made in the east cemetery. They have the heartfeld sympathy of the community.

The Best Friend Wouldn't Tell, Even in Days of Old Greece

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A bad breath has been considered unpleasant since the beginning of time.

The ancient Greek poets wrote much upon the subject and the epigrams of Martial and of Catullus refer not infrequently to halitosis, although the ancients were not so finicky about the name they gave to this disorder.

It is rather difficult to find out just when the understanding arose that a bad breath could be benefited by drinking milk or eating parsley. Milk is a white fluid associated invariably with purity and, no doubt, was taken with the idea that its whiteness would counteract the evil of bad breath. Parsley is a bitter substance associated with the idea of cleansing and the purity of herbs and it also was conceived to have special virtues in attacking a bad breath.

Not infrequently bad breath is due to poor digestion. In such cases eating anything or drinking anything will cause the material in the stomach to pass on and in that way temporarily relieve the condition.

There are other methods of masking a bad breath; for example, the eating of cloves to remove the odor of liquor, a method popular for many years. This may be compared to the sprinkling of perfume over garbage, or the placing of receptacles containing pine tar in public comfort stations.

Halitosis or bad breath is not a disease with a single cause, but a symptom resulting from many possible causes. Infected teeth, tonsils filled with infectious matter or even with decaying particles of food, infections in the nose with crusting, and particularly in the spaces behind the nose are prominent causes of this symptom. When the cause is discovered, the symptom may be relieved by removal of the cause.

Gargles are sometimes effective in washing the mouth and throat. Infected tonsils should be removed. The nose and throat may be washed with simple solutions, such as a teaspoonful of common salt in a glass of warm water. A careful inspection by a physician and an occasional washing with antiseptic solutions may help to clear up such conditions permanently.

There are certain occasions, however, when it is inadvisable to eat onions. The young man about to call on the lady of his choice, the speaker about to address a woman's club, or the young lady who anticipates a proposal will do better on the particular occasion with some other flavoring vehicle.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY OF

ALLEN AT TICONDEROGA

How the lack of rapid means of communication helped the American colonists in their struggle for freedom is graphically illustrated by the Revolutionary war episode of which today is the anniversary—the capture of Ticonderoga by Ethan Allen on May 10, 1775.

This isolated, but important, storehouse of British supplies surrendered to the Americans before the garrison stationed there knew that a war was in progress, although the battle of Lexington had been fought more than three weeks before.

The strength of Allen's attack lay in the fact that it was such a complete surprise, for his "army" consisted of less than 100 "Green Mountain boys." Benedict Arnold, who later was to become a traitor, played a valiant part under Allen in the attack.

The next day Allen sent a note to the governor of Connecticut, telling him in this whimsical fashion of the prisoners he had taken: "I make you a present of a major, a captain and two lieutenants in the regular establishment of George the Third. I hope they may serve as ransom for some of our friends at Boston."

Marinette Opens Home Season for Local Club

Sport Ink-Lings

By Otto

Referring to the advisability of speeding up track and field meets in order to keep the interest of the spectators, the Stevens Point sports writer has this to say of the annual valley conference meet which will be held here tomorrow.

"As long as big track and field contests are conducted in easy-going fashion, people who might otherwise be interested will stay away from them. With a new athletic field to work with and the ambition to make this season's Wisconsin Valley conference track and field games interesting, Aaron Ritchay hopes to make the coming Saturday's conference event at the Rapids a first-class program. Ritchay plans to have bleachers erected and the finish of every race at the same place. He hopes to keep every one not officially engaged in conducting the meet, in the bleachers or off the tracks. He wants everyone to have an equal chance at seeing the finish. This is a laudable idea. Track meets shouldn't last more than an hour and a half. If it is necessary to have trials it would be advisable to have them at some other time. To keep people in their seats, a race should be going on nearly all the time. Every one loves a contest but it is the wait between contests that tires spectators and keeps them away from the track games. Events that take a lot of time like the pole vault, the javelin throw or the broad jump, should be started on time, more quickly run off and means used to eliminate the weak. Trials there, too, might be had at other times. It should at least be provided that no competitor could hold up the progress of one field event while he was off trying out in another, or competing on the track. Concentration upon one event in a meet for each competitor might be a penalty to the individual coach, but it surely will not outweigh the larger advantage of stimulating public interest. There are many ways in which a big field meet could be made intensely interesting to the spectator, and we are pleased to note that the Rapids manager is this year going to make an attempt to help the poor bystander. Lack of adequate grounds has made it impossible heretofore to hold a first class meet in any of the valley cities; first class from the spectator's viewpoint. Faster meets, less "fooling around" and more opportunity for the visitor to see what is going on is something to be aimed at by track managers."

For the benefit of those of our readers who missed the list of track and field records which we published in this column several weeks ago, we are again giving the time and name of the record holder for each event. Those who plan on attending the contests tomorrow can derive a great deal more interest by clipping this and having it handy to compare with the various results in order to determine what records are broken, if any.

High jump: Schilter, Wisconsin Rapids, 1928, 5 feet, 4 inches.

Pole vault: Kenneth Fishleigh, Stevens Point, 1925, 10 feet, 5 inches.

Shot put: Phillip Sanders, Wausau, 1928, 40 feet, 2 inches.

440 yard dash: Richard Taylor, Wausau, 1925, 53.4 seconds.

Discuss throw: August Seefeldt, Wausau, 1927, 108 feet, 6 inches.

Broad jump: Robert Eckerle, Wausau, 1927, 20 feet, 2 3-4 inches.

Half mile run: Lawrence Pfleiger, Wausau, 1926, 2 minutes, 9.4 seconds.

100 yard dash: David Bierbrauer, Wausau, 1926, 10 seconds.

120 yard high hurdles: Robert Eckerle, Wausau, 1928, 17 seconds.

Javelin throw: Neunast, Merrill, 1928, 161 feet, 11 inches.

Mile run: Victor Pfleiger, Wausau, 1927, 4 minutes, 54.4 seconds.

220 yard dash: David Bierbrauer, Wausau, 1926, 23.6 seconds.

220 yard low hurdles: Robert Eckerle, Wausau, 1928, 28.5 seconds.

Half mile relay: Wausau, 1926, 1 minute, 39.8 seconds.

Await Entry of 6th Team in County Loop

Because of the uncertainty as to who would be the sixth team in the Wood county league the baseball meeting at Auburndale Thursday evening, though well attended, failed to accomplish much, it being deemed best to wait until a sixth team had definitely been secured for the league.

No action was taken relative to setting a radius in which teams could secure players. There was considerable discussion relative to whether or not paid umpires should be used this season. The members of the Marshfield team objected on the ground that the expenses of the games were high enough without adding more. In this they were sustained by Auburndale and later Harry Griffin of Seneca decided that perhaps it would be best to use the same system of umpiring employed last year.

The following teams and their managers were present: Hal Salter, Pittsville; Rev. Joseph Steinhauser, Auburndale; Art Kumbier, Arpin; Charles Wensing, Marshfield; Harry Griffin, Seneca Corners. A meeting will be held in Arpin next Monday evening at the Farm Bureau warehouse at which time final action will be taken on matters pertaining to the future of the league.

FOX RIVER LOOP 'YOUNGSTERS' IN SUNDAY'S GAME

The two babes of the Fox River Valley Baseball league, barely out of the unknown quantity cradle as far as veteran members of the circuit are concerned, will stage a brotherly quarrel when the Wisconsin Rapids and Marinette clubs clash at the Lincoln athletic field here, Sunday afternoon, in an official league game, the first home contest of the season for Heart of Wisconsin fans.

Locals Tied for First

With Wisconsin Rapids in a four-way tie for first place as a result of its victory over Fond du Lac a week ago, the outcome of this battle will be watched with interest. Although Marinette opened its campaign by losing to Kaukauna last Sunday, the invaders are admittedly a good ball club, not to be taken lightly. In any event, they come here with the determination to break into the win column and it will take all the power that the locals can muster in order to spoil that ambition.

Manager "Stub" Huber, who has had his men out for practice several nights this week, reports the team in the pink of condition for the home opener, and present plans call for the same line-up that buried Fond du Lac under a shower of well-timed hits. Earl "Spees" Eastling will again draw the pitching assignment, and will go the route barring unexpected difficulties. Should the bespectacled southpaw run into trouble, Fritz Hribernik or Pete Sakolosky will be available to shove into the breach.

McClain to Catch

Bob McClain will be at his old post behind the plate, in spite of injury to his right hand as a result of burns received when a box of matches ignited while he was holding it. "Mac" caught an excellent game last Sunday in spite of this, and feels fit to repeat. He got a nice base blow against Fondy and figures that he is in for his best year with the willow that he has had since he first wore Wisconsin Rapids colors.

Manager Huber will patrol the territory around third base; that old favorite, Johnny Kuenn, will be at shortstop; Stellmacher is slated to again perform at the keystone sack, while Pete Sakolosky will play at first base. In the outfield will be that hard hitting, fly hawking marvel, Fritz Hribernik, with Stub Finup and Art Plahmer, both dangerous hitters and consistent fielders as well, flanking him on either side.

Marinette Reported Strong

Little is known here as to the composition of the Marinette roster, although reports from the Kaukauna team which met the northerners last Sunday reveal that the team which comes here day after tomorrow is powerful, both offensively and defensively, and Kaukauna squeezed out a win only because Les Smith's aggregation is practically the same as the one which fought it out for the pennant with Kimberly-Little Chute last season.

The board of directors of the local club are making elaborate preparations for the opening of the home season. The city band will be out to liven the ceremonies, and will play a number of selections before the game is called. Mayor George W. Mead has consented to toss in the first ball, and C. O. Baetz, president of the Fox River circuit, plans to be present for the occasion.

Baa Cars from Field

Cars will not be allowed within the park this season, it has been decided by the athletic field commission and the baseball directors, but plenty of parking space will be provided outside the grounds. The exclusion of cars from the field was decided upon in order to prevent damage to the gridiron, diamond and track by unthinking drivers.

Sunday's game will be called at 2:30, the established time for the start of all league games this season, and by the time the umpire, whose name has not been announced by the league directors but who is an experienced man from the southern part of the state, gives the command to "play ball" it is expected that the grand stand and bleachers will be filled to overflowing. Wisconsin Rapids fans are "hot" for baseball, and they're going to get it in big helpings this year.

Probable Batting Order

The batting order of the Heart of Wisconsin club, though not definitely announced, will probably be the same as was used last Sunday: Kuenn, Huber, Sakolosky, Hribernik, Plahmer, McClain, Finup, Stellmacher and Eastling. Yeske and one or two other local men will be in suits as utility players.

To Award Elk Pin Meet Prizes Sunday

A meeting of the executive committee of the Wisconsin Elks' Bowling Association will be held in the local club rooms Sunday afternoon beginning at 1:30 p. m., according to a letter received from T. Van Beek, secretary of the committee by C. A. Normington, president of the local association. It will be held for the purpose of awarding the prize money and the good fellowship gifts to the various winners in the state tournament recently completed here. Some small portion of the pelf will go to local experts.

RAPIDS KEGLERS BEAT PLAINFIELD

Having scored a victory over a selected team of Wisconsin Rapids on their accustomed Elk alleys recently, Plainfield bowlers believed that another victory might be achieved in a return match rolled in Plainfield. As a consequence of the challenge a pot-pourri of pin shooters drove over Wednesday night and shot a three-game match against the potato town's best. The result was startling to the invaders and discouraging to the Plainfield five. With two men pretty well down, Plainfield hit 863 in the opening stanza, but the Rapids experts were so far ahead they could scarcely be seen, 951 being their five-man total. Plainfield gained 18 and Rapids lost 43 maples in the second spasm, but even that left the visitors 49 pins to the good, so Plainfield gave up and dropped to a bare 706 against 857 in the final game. Charlie Woehrl performed one of his characteristic stunts by hitting 233 in the second inning, and ended up with 140 so that he could register an even 190 average. The score.

SOUPS AND CATS GAIN VICTORIES

The Consolidated Soups and the Ahdawagam Bear Cats advanced in the soft ball league standings last evening when they defeated Sampson-Mullen and Prentiss-Wabers, respectively. The Soups took the clothing boys into camp, 5 to 1, while the Bear Cats were trimming the stovemakers, 6 to 5, in a hot battle.

Score All in Third

In the Soups-Sampson-Mullen game the only scoring was done in the third inning and W. Wesley was the only clothier to bring in a run. Yeske, Gazely, Damon, Fahrner and Gellerman tallied for the Soups. Batteries for the Soups were Gellerman and Wittenberg and for the losers were Karnatz and Billings.

In the Bear Cat-Stovemakers game the latter took a one run lead in the second stanza while the Bear Cats were able to bring in only one run. The Bear Cats then added two runs in the fourth and two more in the sixth, while the Prentiss-Waber men were held without a single run until the eighth. Three times the plate was crossed in that inning and the score was tied only until the Bear Cats got to bat and soon registered with another run. An attempted rally in the ninth by the stovemakers was nipped in the bud. Batteries were Lipke and Bathke, Bear Cats; Stelmacher and Nightingale, Prentiss-Wabers.

The Lineups

The following men were used: Soups: Yeske, Gazely, Damon, Belter, Fahrner, Fahrner, Rassmussen, Wittenberg, Gellerman and Nietzel. Sampson-Mullen: W. Wesley, Plenke, L. Wesley, Walsh, Luzenski, Cheattle, Tess, Karnatz, Billings.

Prentiss-Wabers: C. Markworth, Kubisiak, Latus, Nightingale, Yeske, Levendoski, Neimann, Stelmacher, Suchoske, Reber. Bear Cats: H. Bathke, Lipke, Halvorson, A. Bathke, Henke, Sowatzka, Haza, Shymanski, Kostusack.

DIEGEL LOSES BRITISH OPEN LEAD TO HAGEN

Muirfield, Scot., May 10.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, deep in the throes of a putting slump, surrendered the lead in the British open championship to Walter Hagen at the end of 54 holes of the 72 hole competition. Diegel, who led after 36 holes, required 82 strokes today while Hagen was around in 75. Hagen's total of 217 gave him a lead of four strokes over the second place player, Percy Alliss, of Great Britain.

Scores Uniformly High

Under pressure of bad weather conditions, scores were almost uniformly high but Hagen seemed little troubled by the heavy wind. He played fine golf, going out with a 37 that would have been a bit lower but for a couple of slips on the seventh, eighth and ninth holes. Home in 38, he had a three-round total of 217, giving him a four stroke lead on his nearest rival among the early finishers, Percy Alliss, of Great Britain.

Alliss started in shaky fashion with a 39 behind him as he rounded the turn. He came in 37 however for a third round score of 76 and a grand total of 221.

Mitchell in Third

A stroke behind him was Abe Mitchell, British veteran, whose round of 78 gave him 222 for 54 holes.

Gene Sarazen, of New York, had all sorts of difficulties on the greens and needed 81 which boosted his total to 228. Back of him trailed Herbert Jolly, 78 and 230; Jimmy Thompson, Knoxville, Tenn., pro, 75 and 231; Phil Perkins, British amateur champion, 80 and 232; George Duncan, British pro, 81 and 235; Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., pro, 84 and 236; R. A. Whitcombe, Great Britain, 84 and 236; W. T. Twine, 84 and 237; Marshall Daraghon, Great Britain, 84 and 241; and Willie Robertson, 85 and 242; Tom Fernie, Great Britain, 85 and 236.

Henry Cotton, young English pro, needed 82 for 234 and Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., an 80 for 232.

Diegel Cracks

Leo Diegel, who was leading the field with 140 when the third round began, appeared ready to crack under the strain when he took 43 on his outward trip. On his card, spotted with fives, was an even worse seven on the ninth hole.

Al Watrous, Detroit pro, scored a neat 75 for 226.

Cyril Tolley, British amateur, "blew up" with a loud bang, taking a bad 87 for 237.

W. G. Gimber, Seaham Harbor, England, took an 82 for a total of 239.

Bobby Cruickshank, little Scot who lives in New York, scored a 78 for a total of 225.

Tommy Armour, former American open champion, had a 79 for 227.

Aubrey Boomer, British pro, needed 80, for 228.

Weaker Coming In

Hagen's golf was not quite so steady on his homeward journey as it was going out. At the fourteenth he needed a six. He was short with his third, his fourth slithered across the green and his first putt was short five feet. His next one almost stopped dead on the edge of the cup but the wind caught it and the ball half-circled the hole and rolled in for a six.

He made amends for that at the fifteenth with a birdie three. At the short sixteenth he needed four, being short with his tee shot and took two putts.

Calculates Wind

At the 17th he was hole high with his drive and iron and his 15 foot putt just missed the cup. He finally got down in four, a birdie. At the home hole he was bunkered on his second shot. A mashie niblick from sixty yards sent the ball up so high it seemed it would go clear over the crowds into the clubhouse but Hagen had calculated the wind and the ball seemed to drop almost perpendicularly and with a backspin it stopped five feet from the pin. The Haig needed two putts to get down.

New Golf Ball to Go Into Use in '31

New York, May 10—(AP)—A new golf ball, lighter and larger and described by the United States golf association as being much easier to hit, will go into country-wide use on January 1, 1931.

Five years of experimentation have resulted in the development of an "improved" ball, 1,68 inches in diameter and 1.55 ounces in weight, the association announces. The present standard ball is 1.62 inches in diameter and weighs 1.62 ounces.

The advantage of the new ball, as the association sees them, are that it provides for the average golfer an easier ball for play in all departments of the game.

HABIT FIGURES IN LEADERSHIP OF JUNIOR LOOP

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Habit is a powerful force, as may be seen from the standing of the clubs in the American league today. The Yankees lead with a percentage of .750 just when everybody had agreed that they were plunging into the midst of a batting slump overdue for almost three years.

Hit Opportunely

At the precise moment when the other seven clubs began to take hope, the Yankees began to hit. Eight solid blows off Sammy Gray in eight rounds and two more off Ed Strelecki in the ninth netted the champions enough margin for a 7 to 3 victory over the Browns at Sportsman's park yesterday, a clean-up of three games in St. Louis, six straight in the west and seven straight east and west.

The position of the Yankees is little different today from what it was this time last year, except that the Athletics are holding to the pace of the champions. The Browns, ambitious before the Yankees began to hit, already are four losing games behind the Hugmen and three to the rear of the second-place Athletics. Again habit figures.

A's Match Stride

The Athletics matched strides with the Yanks yesterday by winning their final clash in Chicago by 9 to 2 behind the steady pitching of George Earnshaw.

Washington broke up Detroit's six-game winning streak yesterday, 6 to 3. Cleveland nosed out the Red Sox by 4 to 3 in a well-played game.

The reaction from a no-hit party found the Giants cracking up under the impact of Earl Sheely's eighth-inning home run at the Polo grounds yesterday.

The score was 4 to 3, including a beautiful homer within the field by Bill Terry in the fourth.

Cubs, Cards Keep Step

Meanwhile the Cubs and the Cardinals were marching step for step with each other into a more substantial lead. With old Alex the Great at his best, the Cards trimmed Harry Seibold and the Braves by 5 to 1 in Boston while the Cubs subdued the Robins by 11 to 2.

The Cincinnati Reds broke up a three-game winning streak for the Phillies when Jakie May came to the rescue of Kenneth Ash and pulled the Hendricks troops through to a 7 to 5 victory in the last game of the series.

WILL FIGHT ONLY HEAVIES

Armand Emanuel says he is through with the little fellows. Hereafter, he says, he will fight only the big fellows who weigh more than 180 pounds.

MILWAUKEEANS END LONG JINX

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, May 10—(AP)—Florence Killilea's Milwaukee team seems to have waddled out of its long jinx and is hurdling forward to the first division in the American association flag chase.

Now in 5th Place

The Brewers, who came back home from the east with such a miserable showing that they were embedded in the cellar, were in fifth place today and riding high on the crest of a four-game winning streak. Columbus was the latest victim of the rejuvenated Cream City club, losing a 10 to 7 decision yesterday.

Indianapolis, 1928 titleholder in the Hickey circuit, meanwhile continued to ride the toboggan. The Indians were dropped, 6 to 4, by the rampant St. Paul club yesterday.

St. Paul's victory, Toledo's 6 to 4 victory over Kansas City and Minneapolis' 15 to 6 triumph over Louisville tightened the first division standings yesterday, and today the Blues were virtually tied for first place by the Millers. St. Paul was in third place, a game and a half behind the leader.

Kansas City Loses

Loose fielding and erratic pitching toppled Kansas City yesterday. The Blues outhit the Mud Hens, 10 to 7, but four errors helped Casey Stengel's men to win.

TASTE above everything

It is true, literally, that in making Chesterfields we put "taste above everything."

Tobaccos must be right, their aging thorough, their blending and CROSS-BLENDING accurate—all for better taste. And evidently smokers are putting taste above everything too—for they certainly do stick to Chesterfields.

School Operetta—

The operetta, "Love Pirates of Hawaii," was well presented at the auditorium last evening and was attended by a large audience. Much credit for the success of the piece is due Miss Hazel Tollerud, the director. The lighting effects on the splendid costumes produced a very beautiful scene and the large palm trees added greatly to the stage settings. The people also gave special attention to the furniture made by the manual training students under the direction of L. G. Lewis and the display of the home economics department which included dresses and canned goods made by the girls during the year. Miss Englund is director of that department.

Mother's Day Program—

The tenth grade of the school presented a very interesting Mother's Day program in the main room this morning under the direction of Miss Wilma Johnson. Stock Prices Stage Rally; Close Strong

New York, May 10. —(AP)— A brisk rally in prices took place at the opening of today's stock market. Wright Aeronautical opened 4 points higher, Westinghouse Electric 3⅜ and Goodyear Rubber 2¼. Atlantic Refining crossed 71 to a new high record for the year. Initial gains of a point or more were quickly recorded by at least a score issues including Radio, National Cash Register, Hudson Motors, Fox Film, Sears Roebuck and Texas Gulf Sulphur.

Retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve bank, coupled with the unexpectedly small increase of $19,000,000 in broker's loans, revived bullish enthusiasm.

United Corporation and Consolidated Gas each opened with blocks of around 5000 shares at gains of more than a point. General Motors moved up moderately in response to the declaration of an extra dividend of 30 cents, and the return of John J. Raskob to the finance committee.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with sterling cables quoted at $4.85 3-16.

The close was strong. Sales approximated 3,900,000 shares.

Smaller Crop Reports Help Wheat Prices

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
(Associated Press Market Editor)

Chicago, May 10—(AP)—Steadied by the government crop report indicating that the 1929 domestic winter wheat crop would be of less formidable size than looked for, wheat prices today showed less violent changes than have been the rule of late. Upturns in price, however, resulted in the free selling, and the market had an irregular finish. During the greater part of the day, nevertheless, selling pressure showed a decided letup, especially on downturns to new low-price records. Field advices today were hardly so favorable as of late, and North American export purchases of wheat totalled 500,000 bu.

Wheat closed nervous at 1-4c net decline to 1-2c advance (May 1.03 3-8, July 1.07 7-8 to 1.08, Sept. 1.11 5-8 to 3-4, Dec. 1.[illegible] 3-8 to 1-2). Corn 1-8c to 7-8c up (May 84 1-4, July 88 to 1-8, Sep. 89 7-8 to 90, Dec. 84 1-8). Oats 1-8c to 5-8c off (May 45 7-8 @ 46, July 53 7-8 to 7-8 @ 44, Sept 42 1-2, Dec. 44 5-8).

Provisions unchanged to a setback of 2c.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS DAILY TRIBUNE

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

STATE OF WISCONSIN, COUNTY OF WOOD —SS.

Notice is hereby given that on the second Tuesday being the 11th day of June 1929 A. D. and the next succeeding days thereafter, at the office of the County Treasurer of Wood County at the Court House in the City of Wisconsin Rapids, the seat of Justice in said county, State of Wisconsin, I will sell at public auction so much of each tract or parcel of land, described in the following statements as may be necessary for the payment of the taxes, interest and charges thereon for the year 1928 A. D.

Further take notice that certain parcels of land which are listed below and which are located in the Cranberry Creek, Dancy, Kert Creek, Remington and Wood County and Wood County Farms Drainage Districts and described as Tax and Drainage assessments on said list have been returned by the town treasurers of the towns of Cranmoor, Dexter, Hiles, Milladore, Port Edwards, Remington, Seneca, Marshfield, Cameron, Hansen, Auburndale and city of Marshfield for the delinquent drainage district assessments for the year 1928 A. D.

Further take notice that certain parcels of land as listed below and which are located in the town of Milladore and described as Tax and Special Assessment on said list have been returned delinquent and that as much of each tract or parcel of land as may be necessary for the purpose will at the above stated time and place be sold by me at public auction for the payment of said tax, drainage assessments and special assessments, interest and charges unless said taxes, interest and charges shall be paid before the day of sale. The said lands delinquent for tax, drainage and special assessments will be sold for tax, drainage and special assessments together, but a separate tax certificate will be issued thereon as provided by Chapter 419 of the laws of Wisconsin for the year 1905.

Sale to commence at nine o'clock A. M. and continue from day to day until all lands are disposed of.

Dated at the Treasurer's office in the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wood County, State of Wisconsin, this 30th day of April A. D. 1929.

Signed

James E. LaVigne
County Treasurer, Wood County, Wisconsin.

WHIPPING CREAM

A little white of eggs added to cream helps it to whip. Also a a pinch of salt sometimes does the trick when cream refuses to whip. Be careful that it is only the slightest pinch, however.

Orange Tea Biscuits
Submitted By
Mrs. John L. Johnson,
251 Plover Street,
Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

2 cups flour.
5 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
3 teaspoons butter.
7-8 cup milk.
Orange juice.
Loaf sugar.

Method: Mix and sift the flour, baking powder and salt. With tips of fingers work in 3 tablespoons butter. Add 7-8 cup milk, mixing lightly.

Roll out about 3-4 inch thick and cut in biscuit shapes. Place close together on a greased baking sheet. Break 18 lumps of sugar in halves. Have ready the juice of ½ orange and dip sugar one piece at a time into the juice. Press a piece of sugar down in the center of each biscuit and grate a little orange rind over each biscuit. Bake in a hot oven.

SECOND PRIZE
$1.00 Cash
Tea Biscuits
Submitted By
Mrs. John R. Thomas
R. R. No. 2
Milladore, Wis.

1 cake compressed yeast.
½ cup milk (scalded and cooled).
½ cup lukewarm water.
1 tablespoon sugar.
3½ cups sifted flour.
1 teaspoon salt (scant).
2 tablespoons butter (melted).

Method: Follow directions closely. Dissolve the yeast and sugar in the lukewarm liquid. Add butter and half the flour. Beat until smooth. Add salt and then the rest of the flour, or enough to make a moderately firm dough. Knead thoroughly, roll out and cut with a biscuit cutter. Place in well-greased shallow pans, slightly apart. Cover and set to rise about two hours, or until double in bulk. When light, bake in a hot oven for ten minutes.

BOTTLE CLEANER

Fresh milk bottles and fruit jars call for one of the inexpensive bottle brushes. Their long handles make the task an easy one. In summer, also, one should be careful to rinse out the can after any fruit or vegetable is emptied out, before throwing the can in the rubbish.

North Arpin

Ellen, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wenger who was quite seriously injured last Thursday when she got her hand caught in a wringer is getting along nicely. She is expected to be at home again this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Setzkorn and son Donald visited a few days in New London.

John Blatt went to Clear Lake last Friday to attend the funeral of a friend. He returned home Saturday evening.

The Leon Christianson farm home is being wired up for electric lights this week. Mr. Christianson expects to install an electric motor for pumping water also.

New Miner

The Loren Fry family of La Valle were Saturday evening and Sunday visitors at the Jack Winters home.

The John Kovelowski family moved from Chicago into what is known as the Peter Borne farm.

The Oliver Alnes family and Miss Ida Nash were Sunday visitors at the Ervin Winters home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhammer and two children who spent a few days visiting in Chicago returned home yesterday morning.

Frank Votova came home from Nekoosa last evening to attend the class play at Necedah.

The George Rounds and August Kasshark families and Mrs. Shaw visited Sunday evening at the Roy Hall home.

A. W. Sorensen of Necedah was a business visitor in this neighborhood Tuesday.

Charles Saylor arrived here Saturday evening from Stewartville, Ill., for a few days' visit.

Quite a number of the seventh and eighth grade pupils attended examinations in Necedah last Saturday.

Will Winters was a Sunday visitor at the Knudsen home.

CAKE CUTTERS

Variety in foods is so easily obtained with a little ingenuity on mother's part. New cookie cutters, for instance, are on the market in modern and alluring shapes. They are well worth the trifle they cost.
